

October 3-7

Health Technology Business Bootcamp: Software Development in Health Sciences

**Back by popular demand**

Are you a recent grad with a background in computer science, engineering, data science or business? Are you ready to jumpstart your career in health technology?

If so, apply now to join OBIO'S Health Technology Business Bootcamp : Software Development in Health Sciences.

This intensive training bootcamp will focus on the software development life cycle in health science and will enhance your understanding and exposure to new and innovative practices.

From this bootcamp, you can expect to:

- Gain insight on the software development life cycle process in health science and how it translates into a business environment.
- Delve into various aspects of software technologies such as artificial intelligence, privacy and cybersecurity, blockchain and much more.
- Learn how to influence success and create value for yourself and your employer.

Apply now | Spots are limited